So many women to-day find it diffi-said before, drinking a small cup of cult to rise in the mornings. For black coffee in bed will make you an hour or so, the deadness of sleep feel infinitely fresher at once. But hangs over them; it is not until this is false stimulation, and should after breakfast that their brains be- not be indulged in by everyone. Students and other brain workers and artists often need this to waken them, for their work should be done soon after rising, before the body tires out.

People whose work is manual as well do not actually need the coffee, though it is certainly a pleasant habit to acquire. An exercise that will refresh you and waken you has been given recently in this column. It was the overhead stretch, as shown in the picture, and the stretching exercises on the floor. These stimulate circulation
